Amy L. Nilson	Green Valley Corporation, dba, Barry Swenson Builders, et al., Stephen Johnson, EPA and Wayne Nastri, RA, Region IX	8/9/2008	8/22/2008	CAA		Notice seems to allege an EPA violation of a nondiscretionary duty. The precise nature of the violations for which Ms. Nilson intends to file a citizen suit is not clear from the notice. Her claims may include a personal injury claim for hydrochloric acid dioxin poisoning and claims for a failure to perform nondiscretionary duties under the Clean Water and Clean Air Acts. The claims apparently arise out of the dumping of waste products by Green Valley, a construction company. These activities, Ms. Nilson's notice would suggest, violate POTW pretreatment standards under CWA section 307 as well as an NPDES permit and the State of California Health and Safety Code. It appears that Green Valley's construction activities have resulted in air emissions of toxic chemicals to which Ms. Nilson has been exposed as well as the introduction of contaminants to a POTW. Ms. Nilson has confused EPA Region IX with the "California Environmental Protection Agency" in her notice.
